i also love pair trading. i have written extensively about pair and basket trading. i have been running hype/sol for quite some time and over the last 3-4months also added lit/eth. when my short leg is in a major down trend, or even just a trending market, i feel no pressure to take it off. as the position drifts 2-3stdv from entry i start to rebalance but even then as long as my pov on the two assets hasn't materially changed i just keep letting it roll. if you use alts as a short leg i highly recommend using a basket of ~20 short legs instead of just one isolated bc it is relatively easy for fugazi to take place on an alt. the best place to basket trade imo is by far @pear_protocol especially the new pro terminal. we have also built out atomic orders at @Lighter_xyz to help users put these trades on. as time goes on - crypto assets with durable revenues will continue to compound. therefore trading relative value will just become all that more useful.

I love pair trading. I love relative value models/trades.

You're asking to get torched if you try to pair trade HYPELIT or LITHYPE or use them as short legs in other baskets. Single announcements can send either +25% (see Circle deal for \$HYPE or RH partnership for \$LIT). There Show more
